4. CONFIRMATION HEARING: As set forth in the Bankruptcy Court's Second Amended Case Management Order Related to the First Amended Joint Plan of Reorganization, dated January 29, 2009 (the "CMO"), a hearing (the "Confirmation Hearing") to consider the entry of an order confirming the Plan under section 1129 of the Bankruptcy Code will take place in two phases. Phase I shall address (i) whether the Plan improperly affects the rights of the Debtors' Insurers (in their capacity as insurers, but not creditors); (ii) the standing of the Debtors' Insurers (in their capacity as insurers, but not creditors) to litigate confirmation objections that do not involve insurance issues covered by item (i); and (iii) the confirmation objections raised on behalf of and specific to lenders under the Pre-Petition Credit Facilities and other Class 9 creditors with respect to impairment. 5. INJUNCTIONS: The Plan proposes injunctions under sections 524(g) and 105 of the Bankruptcy Code, applicable to all persons and entities, that result in the permanent channeling of (i) all Asbestos PI Claims against the Debtors and various other entities (including the Asbestos Protected Parties) to an Asbestos PI Trust, (ii) all Asbestos PD Claims against the Debtors and various other entities (including the Asbestos Protected Parties) to an Asbestos PD Trust and (iii) all CDN ZAI PD Claims against the Debtors and various other entities (including the Asbestos Protected Parties) to the CDN ZAI PD Claims Fund, all as more specifically described in the Plan. The Plan also proposes an injunction applicable to all persons and entities that enjoins all Successor Claims against the Asbestos Protected Parties based on or arising from, in whole or in part, directly or indirectly, the Cryovac Transaction or the Fresenius Transaction, as more specifically described in the Plan. These injunctions enjoin all persons and entities from bringing claims covered by the particular injunctions against the Debtors and the other identified parties in the Plan. You should read the Plan and the Disclosure Statement for a more complete discussion of how such injunctions will operate and affect your rights.

6. SPECIFIC RELEASES BY HOLDERS OF CLAIMS OR EQUITY INTERESTS: As more fully provided for in Section 8.8.7 of the Plan, each Holder of a Claim or Equity Interest who votes in favor of the Plan shall be deemed to have unconditionally released the Asbestos Protected Parties, the Unsecured Creditors' Committee, the Asbestos PI Committee, the Asbestos PD Committee, the Equity Committee, the Asbestos PI FCR and the Asbestos PD FCR, and each party's Representatives, as of the Effective Date, from any and all Claims, SA Claims, SA Damages, obligations, rights, suits, damages, causes of action, remedies, and liabilities of any nature whatsoever, whether known or unknown, foreseen or unforeseen, matured or unmatured, existing or hereinafter arising, in law, equity or otherwise, that such Entity would have been legally entitled to assert in its own right (whether individually or collectively), based in whole or in part upon any act or omission, transaction, agreement, event, or other occurrence taking place on or before the Effective Date in any way relating or pertaining to the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors, their operations on or before the Effective Date, their respective property, the Chapter 11 Cases, or the negotiation, formulation, and preparation of the Plan or any related agreements, instruments, or other documents. In addition to the foregoing, each Holder of a Claim or Equity Interest who receives or retains any property under this Plan shall also be deemed to have unconditionally released the Fresenius Indemnified Parties to the same extent as the release in the preceding sentence.

7. EXECUTORY CONTRACTS: The Plan constitutes a motion to assume certain executory contracts and unexpired leases as of the Effective Date and provides for the rejection of certain other executory contracts and unexpired leases as of the Effective Date. Section 9.1 of the Plan sets forth (i) the treatment of executory contracts and unexpired leases under the Plan, (ii) the procedures relating to assumption of executory contracts and unexpired leases under the Plan, including procedures and deadlines for counterparties to assert or object to any cure amount that may be owing in relation to the assumption of an executory contract or unexpired lease, and (iii) the procedures for filing proofs of claim arising from any contract that will be rejected under the Plan. All Voting Motions must be filed and served in accordance with the Voting Procedures on or before the Voting Deadline of May 20, 2009. If a Holder of a Claim intends to pursue an objection to confirmation of the Plan or grounds that such Holder's Claim is not properly classified, such Holder must request a Ballot from the Voting Agent for provisional voting under a different Class and may vote to accept or reject the Plan by filing with the Bankruptcy Court a Disputed Classification Declaration on or before the Voting Deadline of May 20, 2009 pursuant to Section 10(f)(ii) of the Voting Procedures. Bankruptcies are expected to rise 1.4 million, analysts continue and it continues to be expected, they may reach $1.4 billion, says Robert Lawless, partner at the University of Virginia. In February, filings were the highest since 2003. In 2009, a family with home mortgage debt most Chapter 7, which can have all unsecured debts, including credit cards, family to pay the debt. The goal of the reform is to help families to rely on Chapter 13 bankruptcy inquires them to restructure, or in part, over

It seems to have started in 2007, Chapter 7 filings for 76% of cases continued to rise 13 filings. Chapadeau rose 80% of the 2005; 72% in 2004. As of families who bankruptcy since distinguishable from before the law leading to a study by professors, including the study, "Did the Reform Fail?" was by the American Law Journal. have in previous years, say credit card bills buried them in debt and made them unable to pay with unexpected problems. Before their finances fell apart, they had used Steve's 401(k) retirement savings to buy a new home and furnishings. Because he had a full-time job and Shirley worked part time, they thought that they could cover their two car payments and mortgage. Rising home equity, they figured, would help rebuild their retirement savings. But in 2007, Steve needed emergency gall bladder surgery. He charged what insurance didn't cover on credit cards. Then Shirley became sick and lost her job. While she was ill, Steve was fired.

Late last year, the Morges filed for Chapter 7 bankruptcy, which cost them about $2,560 in fees. "Not cheap for people in trouble money-wise," Shirley says. And filing didn't exactly wipe the slate clean for them: They've moved in with a family member after losing their house and have given up one car.

"Their health care cost precipitated the bankruptcy filing, and the job loss in the midst of that was the final blow," says their bankruptcy lawyer, Monte Rich. It's unclear if filing under the old law would have helped save their home, he says. But filing would have been easier, faster and less expensive, he says.

Filing fees have gone up, and because the process is more complex and time-consuming, associated legal fees are costlier. And many debtors must pay for credit counseling and debtor education courses that are required to complete filing. It all adds to delays in filing for bankruptcy, consumer experts say. "That means somebody with credit card debt is kept longer in what some call the 'sweat box,'" Whitehouse says. His legislation would eliminate the means-test requirement for those who have been hit by excessive rates.

Credit card fees pile on profits

Credit card fees and interest rates were at the center of the reform debate. During a multiyear, multimillion-dollar lobbying effort by credit card companies to change the law, Americans were told that they had to pay higher credit card fees because bankruptcy filings had caused the industry to lose about $40 billion a year. "Congress should do as much as possible to reduce the $400 hidden tax on every American family due to the increasing number of bankruptcies that are filed in this country," said then-Rep. Steve Chabot, R-Ohio, during a House subcommittee meeting in 1997 at the outset of the eight-year battle for reform.

Since the reform passed, the credit card industry's profits have grown. It earned $19.9 billion

Injury: Mesothelioma

Defense: The defendants argued that the mesothelioma was caused by exposure to other insulation materials found throughout the facility, not their products, and that Skelly's employers failed to protect their employees from the danger.

Plaintiff experts: Arnold Brody, Ph.D., radiologist, Oakland, Calif.; Edwin Holstein, M.D., occupational medicine, Boston

Defense experts: Paul Carlson, industrial hygienist, C.I.H., Portland, Ore.; Donna Ringo, industrial hygienist, Louisville, Ky.; James Crapo, M.D., pulmonologist, National Jewish Hospital, Denver; Samuel Hammar, M.D., pathologist, Bremerton, Wash.

Other: Only Flowserve Corp. and Scapa Dryer Fabrics Inc. remained at trial. After a 14-day trial, the jury deliberated for more than four hours before returning its verdict. The jury found design defect in products from nonparty defendants Johns-Manville Corp. and Owens Corning Fiberglass. The jury also found that their defective products directly harmed Gordon Skelly and that they failed to warn him of the dangers. The jury found Blandin Paper negligent and that the negligence was a direct cause of Skelly's injuries. The jury apportioned 70 percent liability to Blandin Paper, 20 percent liability to Johns-Manville Corp. and 10 percent to Owens Corning Fiberglass. Under Minnesota law, the jury had to answer the question of damages, even though neither of the defendants left at trial were found liable.

Plaintiff attorneys: Waters & Kraus, Dallas; Jekel & Doolittle, Mount Pleasant, S.C.

Defense attorneys: For Flowserve — Stephen J. Foley and Christopher Goodman, Foley & Mansfield, Minneapolis; Erich Gleber, Segal McCambridge Singer & Mahoney, New York. For Scapa — Lane Young and Elizabeth O'Neill, Hawkins & Parnell, Atlanta; Jamie L. Habeck, Foley & Mansfield, Minneapolis

Notice of Voting Rights and Hearing to Consider Approval of First Amended Joint Plan of Reorganization for W. R. Grace & Co. and its Related Debtors

A First Amended Joint Plan ("Plan") to reorganize W. R. Grace & Co. and its related Debtors ("Grace") has been filed in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware ("Bankruptcy Court"). Persons or entities with claims against or interests in Grace, including persons with Asbestos Personal Injury ("PI"), Asbestos Property Damage ("PD") or Zonolite Attic Insulation ("ZAI") claims against Grace, may be entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan. A list of the Debtors may be found at www.bmcgroup.com/wrgrace.

A detailed document describing the Plan, called the "Disclosure Statement," was approved by the Bankruptcy Court on March 9, 2009. The Disclosure Statement, a copy of the Plan itself, and voting materials called a "Solicitation Package" are being mailed to known persons or entities entitled to vote to accept or reject the Plan or to their lawyers.

What Does the Plan Say?

The Plan proposes injunctions and third-party releases under the Bankruptcy Code resulting in the permanent channeling of PI, PD and ZAI Claims into various Trusts and Funds. This means that Grace and other "Asbestos Protected Parties" will no longer be liable for PI, PD and ZAI Claims because these claims will now be paid by the Trusts or Funds. The Plan also proposes an injunction that enjoins all "Successor Claims" against the Asbestos Protected Parties, as more specifically described in the Plan. You should read the Plan and Disclosure Statement for a more complete discussion of how these releases and injunctions will operate and affect your rights.

How Do I Know If I Am Eligible to Vote?

The Bankruptcy Court has approved certain "Voting Procedures" describing who can vote on the Plan and how to vote. You may obtain a copy of the Voting Procedures by writing or calling the Voting Agent at the address or number below. The Disclosure Statement contains information that will help you decide how to vote on the Plan if you are entitled to do so. Your legal rights may be affected if you do not vote on the Plan. If you are not entitled to vote or you disagree with the amount or classification of your claim for voting purposes, you may file a motion or a declaration with the Bankruptcy Court on or before the Voting Deadline as described in the Voting Procedures.

Votes Must Be Received By May 20, 2009 ("Voting Deadline")

Can I Respond or Object to the Plan?

The Bankruptcy Court has ordered that responses and objections to the Plan must:

- Be in writing;
- State the name and address of the objecting party and the amount and nature of the claim or interest of such party;
- Explicitly state the basis and nature of any objection to the Plan and any proposed modification to the Plan that would resolve such objection;
- Conform to the Bankruptcy Rules and the Local Bankruptcy Rules; and
- Be filed, together with proof of service, with the Bankruptcy Court and served in a manner so as to be received by May 20, 2009 at 4:00 PM EDT.

Objections must be served on certain parties whose addresses are set forth in Section 11.12 of the Plan. In addition, objections must be served on the Office of the United States Trustee, Attn: David Klauder, Esq., 844 King Street, Suite 2207, Wilmington, DE 19801. Any objection that is not filed and served as described above shall not be considered.

How Will the Plan Be Approved?

A Confirmation Hearing will be held before the Honorable Judith K. Fitzgerald, United States Bankruptcy Judge, at the United States Bankruptcy Court, Western District of Pennsylvania, 5414 U.S. Steel Tower, 600 Grant Street, Pittsburgh, PA 15219. As established by a Case Management Order dated January 29, 2009, the Confirmation Hearing will be held in two phases. Phase I of the Confirmation Hearing shall take place from June 22-25, 2009 and Phase II shall take place from September 8-11, 2009. The Confirmation Hearing may be adjourned from time to time by an announcement at the Confirmation Hearing or any continued hearing.

Asbestos

from suit under Louisiana's Workers Compensation Law, La. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 23:1032.

Kenneth Shepherd was a senior petroleum inspector at SGS. He sued the company and Exxon Mobil Corp., alleging he was doused with toxic chemicals after attempting to inspect a barge on Exxon's premises.

Shepherd said SGS knew a chemical release occurred in the rigging equipment that likely contained benzene but nevertheless ordered him to "wade in the water" knowing he would be exposed to the chemical.

As a result of his exposure, Shepherd claims lost wages, impairment of earning capacity, mental anguish and serious personal injuries.

SGS moved for summary judgment, arguing that Shepherd's lawsuit was barred since worker's compensation is his sole avenue of compensation.

Judge Brady agreed.

The judge said Section 23:1032 provides that unless an employee's injury resulted from an intentional tort, workers' compensation is a worker's exclusive remedy for injuries incurred in the normal scope of employment.

Citing the Louisiana Supreme Court's ruling in Reeves v. Structural Preservation System, 731 So. 2d 208 (La. 1999), Judge Brady said, "employees are not liable under the intentional-act exemption for violations of safety standards or for failing to provide safety equipment ... believing that someone may, or even probably will, eventually get hurt if the workplace practices continue does not rise to the level of an intentional tort."

The judge said Shepherd failed to prove that the incident was intentional.

Even if SGS knew of the dangers associated with benzene exposure without the use of safety equipment, the lack of evidence that the company consciously desired the result of any chemical exposure means state law limits Shepherd to recovery against SGS in workers' compensation, the judge held.

He did not reach the claims against Exxon Mobil, saying the record did not establish what relationship Shepherd had with the company.

A chronic lung disease is our nation's No. 4 killer. And to 90% of those deaths come from one cause: smoking.

By DR. TEDD MITCHELL

THERE'S AN old Scottish proverb that goes something like this: "We'll never know the worth of water till the well goes dry." Unfortunately, for millions of Americans, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD) has caused their lungs' wells to "go dry." For a doctor, few things are as difficult to watch as someone suffering from severe obstructive lung disease.

COPD encompasses several lung ailments; all are characterized by the obstruction of airflow. The two primary types of COPD are emphysema and chronic bronchitis. More than 11 million people have the disease, according to the American Lung Association.

As the fourth leading cause of death after heart disease, cancer and stroke, COPD is no trivial problem for our nation. Still, COPD is preventable. That's because 80% to 90% of all COPD deaths result from just one cause: smoking.

As a physician, I worry that we harp on them about as though it were a 'chance' not a health risk. That's not simply that cigarette is a primary contributor to so many ailments, including COPD, which only after years of habitual smoking. Young smokers don't understand. They feel great. They feel better.

The two main types of COPD are emphysema and chronic bronchitis.

In short, they're healthy. They realize what life is like without the disease. They'd never breathe normal. They'd never did, they'd never that first cigarette or cigar.

The best way to prevent COPD is never to smoke. If you're a smoker — even if you're ready to quit — you can help put the brakes on the decline in lung function by making the commitment to stop smoking. Talk to your doctor. Your lungs' wells go dry.

The Plan proposes injunctions and third-party releases under the Bankruptcy Code resulting in the permanent channeling of PI, PD and ZAI Claims into various Trusts and Funds. This means that Grace and other "Asbestos Protected Parties" will no longer be liable for PI, PD and ZAI Claims because these claims will now be paid by the Trusts or Funds. The Plan also proposes an injunction that enjoins all "Successor Claims" against the Asbestos Protected Parties, as more specifically described in the Plan. You should read the Plan and Disclosure Statement for a more complete discussion of how these releases and injunctions will operate and affect your rights.

How Do I Know If I Am Eligible to Vote?

The Bankruptcy Court has approved certain "Voting Procedures" describing who can vote on the Plan and how to vote. You may obtain a copy of the Voting Procedures by writing or calling the Voting Agent at the address or number below. The Disclosure Statement contains information that will help you decide how to vote on the Plan if you are entitled to do so. Your legal rights may be affected if you do not vote on the Plan. If you are not entitled to vote or you disagree with the amount or classification of your claim for voting purposes, you may file a motion or a declaration with the Bankruptcy Court on or before the Voting Deadline as described in the Voting Procedures.

Votes Must Be Received By May 20, 2009 ("Voting Deadline")

Can I Respond or Object to the Plan?

- Be in writing;
- State the name and address of the objecting party and the amount and nature of the claim or interest of such party;
- Explicitly state the basis and nature of any objection to the Plan and any proposed modification to the Plan that would resolve such objection;
- Conform to the Bankruptcy Rules and the Local Bankruptcy Rules; and
- Be filed, together with proof of service, with the Bankruptcy Court and served in a manner so as to be received by May 20, 2009 at 4:00 PM EDT.

Objections must be served on certain parties whose addresses are set forth in Section 11.12 of the Plan. In addition, objections must be served on the Office of the United States Trustee, Attn: David Klauder, Esq., 844 King Street, Suite 2207, Wilmington, DE 19801. Any objection that is not filed and served as described above shall not be considered.

How Will the Plan Be Approved?

A Confirmation Hearing will be held before the Honorable Judith K. Fitzgerald, United States Bankruptcy Judge, at the United States Bankruptcy Court, Western District of Pennsylvania, 5414 U.S. Steel Tower, 600 Grant Street, Pittsburgh, PA 15219. SOCIETY business that is out of our hands. Japan, Mexico—all these countries are taking our jobs," he says.

Not every Amish or Mennonite breeder treats his dogs harshly; some let their dogs out of their cages to exercise and are scrupulous about vaccinations. And there are plenty of unethical breeders who aren't Amish or Mennonite—including the owners of the Tennessee farm that authorities raided in February, who have not yet been charged but could face jail sentences. Some Lancaster breeders visited by NEWSWEEK defended their practices, saying the dogs are happy in their cages. As Elmer Zimmerman's father puts it, "it's the only way to keep a lot of dogs—to keep them penned up."

The Zimmermans did particularly well selling designer dogs—Elmer favored cockapoos, a cocker spaniel-poodle mix. "They don't shed and then people's houses don't get dirty," Elmer's father says. Amish and Mennonite dog breeders on some of the eight other farms NEWSWEEK visited cited other reasons for favoring hybrids. "It's less paperwork for me—you don't have to register them," says one Lancaster County breeder, who declined to be named—but who, according to rescue officials, has kept as many as 500 dogs on his farm. No matter which breed farmers choose, the costs of these businesses are astonishingly low, critics say. "Once they set up their cages all they have to pay for is staff and vaccines," says Kathleen Summers, director of the Humane Society's Stop Puppy Mills campaign. By some accounts, there are Amish breeders earning hundreds of thousands of dollars a year.

It's a business that creates strange bedfellows. Last year animal activist Bill Smith, who runs Main Line Animal Rescue in Chester Springs, Penn., noticed that some of the farms alleged to mistreat puppies were also producing organic dairy products, the kind bought by affluent consumers who'd be horrified their milk and yogurt are being produced alongside dogs in tiny, filthy cages. Indeed, NEWSWEEK visited one farm where a sign identified it as producing Horizon Organics dairy products, which are sold by upscale retailers like Whole Foods Market and in big-box stores like Wal-Mart. That farm, B&R Puppies in Parkesburg, Penn., was recently licensed to hold up to 250 dogs a year; inspection reports from 2007 and 2008 cited conditions as "unsatisfactory" because of squalid cages, sick dogs, pests and failure to vaccinate for rabies. When NEWSWEEK informed Horizon of B&R's puppy business, the company sent a representative to investigate. Upon finding breeding dogs at the farm, Horizon suspended its dealings with the farm. In a statement, Horizon said the farmer promised to "[close] that operation and [find] appropriate and humane homes for all of the dogs." Indeed, late last week farm owner John Stoltzfus told NEWSWEEK he'd already found new homes for the dogs "so we can still send milk to Horizon."

Most of the farms NEWSWEEK visited sold hybrid dogs. According to experts, about 20 percent of the dogs raised in puppy mills are designer breeds, with puggles, Labradoodles and Yorkiepoos (Yorkshire terrier-poodle mixes) among the most popular. Breeders are often able to sell a designer dog for far more than the cost of the two breeds they mate to produce it. For instance, if a puppy mill breeds a $50 beagle with an $800 pug, the litter of puggles can sell for nearly $1,000 apiece. A farmer might keep one male pug and four female beagles. Since beagles average six puppies a litter and two litters a year, a five-dog operation like this could yield 48 puggles annually. "Where else do you get something where two ingredients that cost almost nothing give you a combination that is worth a lot?" says Caroline Coile, a canine expert who's written a book on designer dogs.

Mostly, though, breeders engage in this mix-and-match mating because consumers have been led to believe that hybrid dogs combine the best features of two breeds into one. Consider the Labradoodle, first bred in Australia in the early 1980s as guide ballparks like Tampa's George M. Steinbrenner Field, which has signs at lower-level entrances reading, CAUTION: WATCH FOR LIVE BATS AND BALLS LEAVING THE FIELD AT ALL TIMES. But with no standard, pro baseball leaves the decision on such signage, as well as the breadth of netting in each park, to the discretion of each team.

"It's about balancing the need to protect the fans with maintaining the baseball atmosphere we traditionally enjoy," says Dan Halem, senior vice president and general counsel of labor for Major League Baseball and a member of the game's Safety and Health Advisory Committee. "Netting in the ball fields would certainly change the experience of the game." What fan, after all, doesn't like to take home a foul ball? "Fans demand seats with no netting in front," Halem says. "That's the reality."

But if professional baseball is protected from legal action because of the 145-word warning on the back of each ticket that shifts all responsibility for injury to the fan, it doesn't lessen the danger. "Somebody's going to get hurt," says Hamilton, the pitcher who beamed Conigliaro. "Somebody's going to get hit with one of those broken bats, too, before long." Indeed, since baseball's Safety and Health Advisory Committee was reconstituted in 2008, all of its time—and some $500,000—has been spent studying the increasing trend of bats splintering into dangerous flying shards. "The foul-ball issue has not been discussed," Halem says.

Veteran ballplayers, though, think about it constantly, and many insist that their loved ones sit behind protective netting. First baseman Alan Zinter, who retired in 2007 after playing nearly all of his 19-year career in the minor leagues, took it a step further; he urged complete strangers to sit behind the screen. "I've seen people get hit in the face, just crushed, blood everywhere," Zinter says. "The worst thing I saw was in Nashville: I was hitting lefthanded and I check-swung and hit a line shot over the dugout that hit a six-year-old boy right in the temple. It was slow motion for me; I'm looking right down the barrel and thinking, Oh, God, and it's heading right toward this family, and the father's not even watching. The kid was looking into leftfield, so he's not watching, and whack! Right in the head. They carried him out of the stadium."

"I couldn't even concentrate after that. I struck out. I kept calling after the game. Kid was in the hospital, and they said he's going to be O.K. Had a concussion, stayed that night. I said, 'Give me his number,' and I ended up calling him when I made it to the big leagues [later that season]." Zinter pauses, watching the moment unroll again in his mind. "His dad ran him up the steps. . . ."

ON MARCH 4, 2007, Mike Coolbaugh and his close friend Jay Maldonado walked onto the field at Theodore Roosevelt High in San Antonio. They'd both been baseball stars there in the late 1980s, but this was no exercise in nostalgia. After 17 years in the minor leagues, Coolbaugh's playing options had seemingly dried up, but an offer had suddenly come from a professional team in Tabasco, Mexico: $10,000 just to show up and try out. Coolbaugh needed to get ready, and Maldonado had come to help; he could still roll out of bed and throw 88 mph.

Coolbaugh was one of those players who feared that his wife or children would get hit by a baseball ripped into the stands. "He was more worried about it than anybody I've ever met," says his wife, Mandy. "He was so aware of what a foul ball could do."

Maldonado and Coolbaugh set up the protective L screen in the grass in front of the pitcher's mound. Maldonado began to throw—slurves, changeups and fastballs, mixing location in and

State College, Pa., even has a retirement community on campus. Residents can take free courses, pick up priority football and basketball tickets, and visit an on-site ice creamery.

The healthcare industry has proved itself resilient in this economic environment. Almost half of the 30 fastest-growing occupations named by the Bureau of Labor Statistics are within health services, such as home health aides and pharmacy technicians. The nonprofit Charleston Area Medical Center in Charleston, W.Va., one of the state's largest hospitals, employs more than 5,000 people, including Carolyn Stevens, 68. She plans to continue to work as manager of the CAMC cytology department for at least five more years because it gives her a sense of purpose that she feels would be lost if she retired. "There is one test we perform where you can detect cancer cells before they can even be seen by the eye of a physician," says Stevens.

In Rochester, Minn., the Mayo Clinic employs more than 28,000 people. "You can work here forever if your body and mind are still intact," says Richard Emslander, 81, a Mayo Clinic endocrinologist who works half of the year and takes half of the year off. "I have to go through a rigorous exam every year to make sure all my mental facilities are intact, but as long as I am capable, I will keep on working."

Public-sector jobs can provide a sense of security during turbulent times. Although they tend to pay on the low side, government jobs typically offer generous health and pension benefits, which many private companies have been slashing. Darlene Hieb, 76, who officially retired in 2006, now works two days a week as an office assistant for the city government of Bismarck, N.D. "I was able to work up a very nice pension, which I am drawing, and I always had health benefits, vacation, and sick leave," she says. State capitals are often prime spots to land a local, state, or federal government post. Plum jobs at the North Dakota State Capitol Building Tower, constructed during the Great Depression, come with a view of a 132-acre park.

Some of the best cities to find retirement jobs support multiple industries that tend to hold up well in turbulent economies. Huntsville, Ala., for example, has a mix of government jobs at the Redstone Arsenal and NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center, healthcare opportunities within the Huntsville Hospital System, and positions at the University of Alabama-Huntsville. At Intuitive Research and Technology Corp., an engineering and research company based in Huntsville, approximately 20 percent of employees have retired from another job. President Harold Brewer says the company maintains a list of retirees who want to work on a part-time or temporary basis and notifies them when work is available. "The thing we like about hiring folks later on is their multidisciplinary experience that they can apply to all different kinds of problems that come up," says Brewer. ●

5. INJUNCTIONS: The Plan proposes Injunctions under sections 524(g) and 105 of the Bankruptcy Code, applicable to all persons and entities, that result in the permanent channeling of (i) all Asbestos PI Claims against the Debtors and various other entities (including the Asbestos Protected Parties) to an Asbestos PI Trust, (ii) all Asbestos PD Claims against the Debtors and various other entities (including the Asbestos Protected Parties) to an Asbestos PD Trust and (iii) all CNV ZAI PD Claims against the Debtors and various other entities (including the Asbestos Protected Parties) to the CNV ZAI PD Claims Fund, all as more specifically described in the Plan. The Plan also proposes an Injunction applicable to all persons and entities that enjoins all Successor Claims against the Asbestos Protected Parties based on or arising from, in whole or in part, directly or indirectly, the Cryovac Transaction or the Fresenius Transaction, as more specifically described in the Plan. These Injunctions enjoin all persons and entities from bringing claims covered by the particular Injunctions against the Debtors and the other identified parties in the Plan. You should read the Plan and the Disclosure Statement for a more complete discussion of how such Injunctions will operate and affect your rights.

6. EXECUTORY RELEASES BY HOLDERS OF CLAIMS OR EQUITY INTERESTS: As more fully provided for in Section 8.8.7 of the Plan, each Holder of a Claim or Equity Interest who votes in favor of the Plan shall be deemed to have unconditionally released the Asbestos Protected Parties, the Unsecured Creditors' Committee, the Asbestos PI Committee, the Asbestos PD Committee, the Equity Committee, the Asbestos PI Future Claimants' Representative, and each party's Representatives, as of the Effective Date, from any and all Claims, SA Claims, SA Damages, obligations, rights, suits, damages, causes of action, remedies, and liabilities of any nature whatsoever, whether known or unknown, foreseen or unforeseen, matured or unmatured, existing or hereinafter arising, in law, equity or otherwise, that such Entity would have been legally entitled to assert in its own right (whether individually or collectively), based in whole or in part upon any act or omission, transaction, agreement, event, or other occurrence taking place on or before the Effective Date in any way relating or pertaining to the Debtors or the Reorganized Debtors, their operations on or before the Effective Date, their respective property, the Chapter 11 Cases, or the negotiation, formulation, and preparation of the Plan or any related agreements, instruments, or other documents. In addition to the foregoing, each Holder of a Claim or Equity Interest who receives or retains any property under this Plan shall also be deemed to unconditionally release the Fresenius Indemnified Parties to the same extent as the release in the preceding sentence.

7. EXECUTORY CONTRACTS: The Plan constitutes a motion to assume certain executory contracts and unexpired leases as of the Effective Date and provides for the rejection of certain other executory contracts and unexpired leases as of the Effective Date. Section 9.1 of the Plan sets forth (i) the treatment of executory contracts and unexpired leases under the Plan, (ii) the procedures relating to assumption of executory contracts and unexpired leases under the Plan, including procedures and deadlines for counterparties to assert or object to any cure amount that may be owing in relation to the assumption of an executory contract or unexpired lease, and (iii) the procedures for filing proofs of claim arising from any contract that will be rejected under the Plan. Counterparties to executory contracts or unexpired leases should receive notice of notice of the Plan and the Disclosure Statement in a copy of the Plan and the Disclosure Statement.

8. POST-PETITION INTEREST: Section 3.1.9(b) of the Plan provides for the payment of post-petition interest to Holders of General Unsecured Claims and provides procedures for such Holders to (i) assert an entitlement to post-petition interest in a different amount than that provided for in the Plan (a "Post-Petition Interest Determination Notice") or (ii) identify a non-default contract rate of interest to which the Holder is entitled under the Plan (a "Notice of Non-Default Contract Rate of Interest"). A Post-Petition Interest Determination Notice must comply with the requirements of Section 3.1.9(d) of the Plan and be filed with the Bankruptcy Court on or before the Voting Deadline of May 20, 2009. A Notice of Non-Default Contract Rate of Interest must comply with the requirements of Section 3.1.9(e) of the Plan and be received by the Voting Agent (at the address listed in Paragraph 9) on or before the Voting Deadline of May 20, 2009. Holders of General Unsecured Claims should receive separate notice of these procedures and obtain a copy of that notice as described in Paragraph 9 below.

9. SOLICITATION PACKAGES: In accordance with the Confirmation Procedures Order, certain materials (the "Solicitation Package"), including a copy of the Disclosure Statement, Plan and Voting Procedures, are being provided with this Notice to Holders of Claims and Equity Interests in impaired classes under the Plan and to Holders of Claims in Classes 7A and 9 under the Plan. In addition, the Confirmation Procedures Order authorizes the Debtors to distribute (i) a notice to counterparties to executory contracts and unexpired leases describing the treatment of executory contracts and unexpired leases under the Plan, and (ii) a notice to Holders of Class 9 General Unsecured Claims regarding the Plan's procedures with respect to the payment of post-petition interest in relation to General Unsecured Claims. The Plan, Disclosure Statement, Voting Procedures and related documents and notices are also available via the Internet on the Debtors' website at www.wrg.com and on the Voting Agent's website at www.bmcgroup.com/wrg. If you did not receive a Solicitation Package, but wish to receive one, you should send a written request by U.S. Mail to BMC Group, Inc., Attn: W.R. Grace Voting Agent, P.O. Box 913, El Segundo, CA 90245-0913 or call the Voting Agent at (888) 909-0100. Creditors and Equity Interest Holders who are entitled to vote on the Plan should receive Ballots and instructions for voting in their Solicitation Package. Holders of Claims that are not entitled to vote on the Plan will not receive a Solicitation Package.

10. VOTING MOTIONS AND DISPUTED CLASSIFICATION DECLARATIONS: If a Holder of a Claim is not entitled to vote under the Voting Procedures or disagrees with the amount of its Claim for voting purposes, such Holder may file a motion with the Bankruptcy Court pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 3018(a) and Section 10(f)(ii) of the Voting Procedures, requesting temporary allowance of such Claim in an amount which the Bankruptcy Court deems proper solely for the purpose of casting a vote to accept or reject the Plan (a "Voting Motion"). All Voting Motions must be filed and served in accordance with the Voting Procedures on or before the Voting Deadline of May 20, 2009. If a Holder of a Claim intends to pursue an objection to confirmation of the Plan on the grounds that such Holder's Claim is not properly classified, such Holder may request a Ballot from the Voting Agent for provisional voting under a different Class and may vote to accept or reject the Plan by filing with the Bankruptcy Court a Disputed Classification Declaration on or before the Voting Deadline of May 20, 2009 pursuant to Section 10(f)(ii) of the Voting Procedures. The Voting Procedures may be obtained from the Voting Agent as described in Paragraph 9 above.

11. OBJECTION DEADLINE: Responses and objections, if any, to the confirmation of the Plan or any relief sought by the Debtors in connection with confirmation of the Plan, must: (i) be in writing; (ii) state the name and address of the objecting party and the amount and nature of the claim or interest of such party; (iii) state with particularity the basis and nature of any objection to the Plan and any proposed modification to the Plan that would resolve such objection; (iv) conform to the Bankruptcy Rules and the Local Rules; and (v) be filed together with proof of service, with the Bankruptcy Court and served in a manner so as to be received by May 20, 2009 at 4:00 p.m. (EDT) on (a) counsel to the Debtors, (b) counsel to each of the statutory committees appointed in these chapter 11 cases, (c) counsel to each of the future claimants' representatives appointed in these chapter 11 cases, (d) counsel to Sealed Air Corporation and Cryovac, Inc., (e) counsel to Fresenius, and (f) the United States Trustee, whose addresses are set forth in Section 11.17 of the Plan, except for the United States Trustee, who shall be served at: Office of the United States Trustee, Attn: David Klausner, Esq., 844 King Street, Suite 2207, Wilmington, Delaware 19801.

12. The Confirmation Hearing may be adjourned from time to time without further notice to the parties in interest other than by an announcement in the Bankruptcy Court of such adjournment at the Confirmation Hearing or any continued hearing.

progress in their restructuring. G.M. has borrowed $13.4 billion from the government since December and is requesting access to $16.6 billion more, while Chrysler has borrowed $4 billion and wants $5 billion more.

Ahead of that deadline, G.I. and Chrysler have been slashing costs and pressing for concessions from their debt holders, unions and other stakeholders that would improve the company's viability. G.M. this month deferred its request for another billion infusion from the government because it said cost-cutting efforts had been working better than expected.

But the G.M. bondholder group, which met with the task force on March 5, is skeptical that G.M. is moving fast enough to remain solvent, even with billions of dollars more from the government.
